

[FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE]

Power Partners Group Announces Amalgamation of CSS into Power Partners in Singapore

Singapore, 1 April 2026 — Power Partners Private Limited (PP), a wholly owned subsidiary of Air Water Inc., Japan, today announced the amalgamation of Critical Systems Services Private Limited (CSS) into Power Partners Private Limited, with effect from 1 April 2026.

Following the amalgamation, the public-facing communications and digital presence previously associated with CSS will be unified under the Power Partners brand in Singapore.

This move supports the Group's efforts to strengthen brand clarity, streamline stakeholder engagement, and present its integrated capabilities to the market in a more consistent and cohesive manner.

Power Partners Group (PPG) is the collective identity of Power Partners Private Limited and its regional subsidiaries across Asia, with headquarters in Singapore. Through this transition, the Group aims to provide customers, partners, and stakeholders with a clearer and more seamless point of engagement across its integrated solutions and services, including power protection systems, green energy solutions, modular prefabrication, engineering and technical services, lifecycle support, and broader infrastructure capabilities for mission-critical environments.

As part of this transition, selected websites, social media pages, and digital business profiles previously associated with CSS will be progressively retired, redirected, or updated, where appropriate, to reflect the unified Power Partners brand presence. Future company updates, business announcements, and brand communications will be published through Power Partners Group's official platforms.

This amalgamation also reflects the Group's commitment to presenting its complementary capabilities more clearly under a unified Power Partners brand presence in Singapore. It supports stronger alignment in how the Group communicates its value to customers and stakeholders in Singapore and across the wider region.

Where applicable, existing product and solution brands will continue to be managed under Power Partners in alignment with the Group's business and market strategy. Power Partners remains committed to ensuring continuity, professionalism, and clear stakeholder communication throughout this transition.

About Power Partners Group

Power Partners Group (PPG) is the collective identity of Power Partners Private Limited and its regional subsidiaries across Asia. A wholly owned subsidiary of Air Water Inc., Japan, Power Partners delivers integrated power and engineering solutions for mission-critical and industrial applications. The Group's capabilities span power protection solutions, green energy solutions, modular infrastructure solutions, engineering services, and customised solution offerings, supported by regional expertise and a strong commitment to system reliability and customer confidence.

Media Contact

Marketing Department

Power Partners Private Limited

marketing@powerpartners-awi.com